Dear Friends:

Eid Mubarak, and best wishes as you celebrate this special day.

All of you are a testament to how people of all faiths and backgrounds enrich our state and our country. Over the course of this challenging year, you have stepped up to serve our communities, helping essential workers and struggling families survive this pandemic, and providing direct aid to community and social service organizations in Ohio. Whether at home or abroad, through grants or through services, IRUSA has been a lifeline for so many, and we are so grateful.

Today is an opportunity to recognize the contributions Muslim Americans have made to our nation throughout our history. Your work fosters friendship, and strengthens the bonds of community in Ohio and around the country.

I wish you all the best at this special celebration, and in the year ahead.

Sincerely,

U.S. Senator Sherrod Brown
