Dear Friends,

Ramadan Mubarak! During this holy time, it is essential we remember and celebrate the valuable contributions that Muslim-Americans have made to communities in every corner of our nation. Furthermore, we must recognize the Muslim community of faith as an indispensable element of our society and culture.

In addition, I would like to thank Islamic Relief USA (IRUSA) and all the passionate and dedicated individuals who continue to shape and guide its humanitarian mission and programs. Your work in support of the Muslim community in New York and across our country makes an invaluable difference in countless lives, and you have my eternal gratitude for that. I am especially grateful IRUSA will dedicate its time and resources, in partnership with the American Council of Minority Women, Inc., to help those facing food insecurity in my beloved 9th District abate hunger during this Ramadan!

I wish you and your loved ones a most wonderful Ramadan as you embark on a journey of prayer, reflection, and time spent with those most important to you. May the coming weeks provide you with a renewed sense of spiritual health and closeness with Allah. Once again, I wish you a wonderful and blessed Ramadan!

Respectfully,

Yvette D. Clarke
