AN INTRODUCTION TO ISLAMIC RELIEF USA

IRUSA began in California in 1993 with a small and passionate group of humanitarians who decided to dedicate their lives to serving humanity. Years later, the IRUSA’s headquarter office was relocated to the Washington, D.C. area, where it remains today.

Now, nearly 30 years later, IRUSA serves as a leading relief and development organization with a strong presence in over 40 countries, including right here at home in the United States of America.

In the U.S., we make it a priority to care for our neighbors in need. The five values of our organization—excellence, sincerity, social justice, compassion, and custodianship—model the values ingrained in the true spirit of American life and liberty.

Our mission is to provide relief and development in a dignified manner regardless of gender, race, or religion, and to work to empower individuals in their communities and give them a voice in the world.

For decades, we have made it our civic and moral duty to provide humanitarian relief to our neighbors. And through the support of thousands of donors, IRUSA continues its legacy of working together with humanitarian partners, community groups, and others right here at home and across the world to help those in need.

MISSION
Islamic Relief USA provides relief and development in a dignified manner regardless of gender, race, or religion, and works to empower individuals in their communities and give them a voice in the world.

VISION
Working together for a world free of poverty.

IRUSA MISSION, VISION, AND VALUES

VALUES

EXCELLENCE
Our actions in tackling poverty are marked by excellence in our operations and conduct, which the people we serve deserve.

SINCERITY
In responding to poverty and suffering, our efforts are driven by sincerity to God and the need to fulfill our obligations to humanity.

COMPASSION
We believe the protection and well-being of every life is of paramount importance and we shall join with other humanitarians to act as one in responding to suffering brought on by disasters, poverty, and injustice.

CUSTODIANSHIP
We uphold our duty of custodianship over the Earth, its resources, and the trust people place in us as humanitarian and development practitioners.

SOCIAL JUSTICE
Our work is founded on enabling people and institutions to fulfill the rights of the poor and vulnerable. We work to empower the dispossessed towards realizing their God-given human potential and developing their capabilities and resources.
SERVING THOSE MOST IN NEED WITH OUR PARTNERS ACROSS THE UNITED STATES

Inspired by our faith and guided by our values, we envision a world where communities are empowered, social obligations are fulfilled, and people respond as one to the suffering of others. In an effort to build stronger national partnerships, Islamic Relief USA is working with partners across the country to implement sustainable and more accessible programming around food security, healthcare, and refugee and recent immigrant services.

STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIP TRACK
Strategic partners are carefully selected by IRUSA to help implement long-term projects that typically last 12-36 months. From 2020 to 2021, we selected 21 organizations to help bring relief to hundreds of thousands of people across the country.

GRANTEES
Our grantees are made up of organizations from diverse backgrounds all across the country. During the height of the pandemic, IRUSA supported the programmatic work of 45 grantees!

Shakila & Fahima’s Story
Shakila & Fahima are two women who sought refuge in the United States after the fall of Kabul and went through difficult days, with no goals or future in mind when they arrived. It was very difficult for them to adapt to the new environment, especially for Shakila, who had graduated from medical school and had lost everything when she got here. But they did not accept failure and started work right away in a childcare center, where Shakila worked as a translator for eight Afghan women and Fahima worked as a trainee. This step towards success was made possible by the Refugee Women’s Network. Now, Ms. Fahima is working as a teacher in the same center and Ms. Shakila is working as a medical assistant in one of the [Refugee Women’s Network’] clinics in Georgia. They both hoped to live in America [one day], and every day their lives take on a new color and they are optimistic about their future and their children’s future. After their job placements and assistance with accessing resources for economic self-sufficiency, they wanted to participate in Lending Circles. They are currently still in the program. Displaced women are [more] marginalized economically than men, [and] the programming and resources provided to them must take into account their unique barriers. Our programming is [holistic and allows for success].

Examples of Community Impact:
Fatima’s Story
Fatima is an American, transgender woman, who reverted to Islam two years ago. She sought out therapy with Khalil Center to explore and process her religious identity with her gender, work through her depression, and build her relationship with God. Fatima transitioned eighteen years prior. However, she soon realized that the transition was not the right choice for her, but it would be dangerous for her to transition once more.
Fatima feels fulfilled when learning about Islam.
The initial sessions of therapy were focused on her values, including spirituality, community, and family, as well as her current feelings of loneliness and anxieties around faith. Using acceptance commitment therapy techniques and prioritizing faith-based values, Fatima was able to identify the constant presence of God in her life, and the relationships she had that were beneficial towards her goals of learning about faith and normalizing the loneliness she felt.
She also focused on balance. Learning about her faith and the rules that come with it was overwhelming for Fatima. The importance of building long lasting habits with small steps and remembering the mercy of God helped her reset her goals in religious practice.
Fatima continues sessions with Khalil Center to this day. She is highly motivated and reports significant benefits from therapy.

Examples of Community Impact:
Hiba’s Story
Hiba, 67, is an Arabic-speaking patient with an A1c of 13%, and a history of cardiac disease and hypertension who was diagnosed by our physician based on blood tests and clinical judgement. This patient is uninsured, untreated, and had not seen a physician prior to attending our clinic. We referred her and made her appointments with both the endocrinologist and cardiologist. The patient had been followed-up with both in our clinic and at the specialty clinic. Ongoing communication between the medical providers has allowed the patient to receive the specialty care, and access expensive medications through samples and prescription assistance programs filed by our clinic pharmacist. The pharmacist has also been meeting with the patient on a weekly basis in order to provide the proper adjustments and monitoring. A bilingual dietitian was also assigned to work with her. Her most recent A1c value has dropped by 3% indicating a remarkable improvement in sugar control. Subsequently, her cardiac health has also improved drastically. The patient also received her COVID-19 vaccine after a lengthy conversation with the provider and was convinced that taking the vaccine is a must with her current medical condition. She is currently an advocate for the vaccine and urges her family members and friends to vaccinate.

C-ASSIST

Partner: M.A.D.E. Institute
Location: Flint, MI • Single-Year Partner
Sector: Community Development
Funding: $96,100
Project Title: EPIK Growth and Transitional Housing Expansion

Estimated Number of People Served: 55 people

Highlight: This strategic partnership with M.A.D.E. Institute was funded for $96,100 to serve formerly incarcerated citizens to reduce recidivism and achieve self-sufficiency through comprehensive-holistic programming, access to employment, education, and full participation in the economic, political, and cultural life of the community.

Examples of Community Impact:

Kelly’s Story

Kelly was paroled to a community placement sobriety house after being incarcerated. Kelly felt that staying at the sobriety house prevented her from reaching her goals because it was holding her back on her sobriety journey. She was in an unfamiliar county without a job, couldn’t contact her family for support, and was unable to communicate with her children after her release. Kelly was released during the pandemic which was especially stressful. Before placement at the sobriety house, she spent the first two weeks living on the outside, staying in a hotel where she slowly obtained more clothing and other essential healthcare items. Her goals at this time were to get an ID, find housing, and to get a car to support herself living on the outside. When she worked with her parole officer, Kelly found M.A.D.E. and was able to transfer her parole there to use the resources they provided.

In the beginning of Fall 2020, Kelly started working with M.A.D.E. She was able to finish her resume and connect with resources to provide for her daily needs such as personal care items. Kelly connected with a team of professionals to assist her in navigating information for housing resources and tracking down what resources work best for her needs. Through living at the transitional housing at M.A.D.E., Kelly found out about St. Luke’s New Life Center. They provide an employment readiness program, access to GED classes, and other resources.

Kelly feels her goals are attainable now because she was able to work with M.A.D.E. and its resources including obtaining a housing voucher for her and her youngest child. She is passionate about helping other people transition into society after incarceration and believes that working with M.A.D.E. is a valuable tool that gives people hope to succeed in this goal.

Examples of Community Impact:

Lionel’s Story
Lionel’s drug abuse started as a way to escape reality. His father was an alcoholic, which resulted in physical abuse towards him and his brother. Eventually, he was living on the streets and by 18, he had tried almost every street drug, including meth. After the death of his mother, Lionel relocated to Minnesota and entered a treatment program. Upon completion, he enrolled in Al-Maa’uun’s support program for employment coaching and job searching. Lionel eventually got a job in custodial services within the Minneapolis public school system. From his income, Lionel was able to rent an apartment, get his driving permit, and buy his first car.

Naima’s Story
Naima is a mother of four from Somalia. She used to work long hours at several cleaning services in her community to support her kids until she lost her job due to the pandemic. Naima also joined the support program. Upon completion, she also received temporary custodian employment through the Minneapolis public school system. At the end of her 90-day probationary period, she was denied full-time employment due to her lack of formal education. Seeing this as a challenge, Naima set her sights on getting her GED, and with several appeals from Al-Maa’uun, she was finally granted employment within the school.

Jay’s Story

Jay went to Shifa Free Clinic suffering from pain in the lower right abdominal region. The doctor ordered an ultrasound exam, which revealed that he was suffering from kidney stones. However, the exam also showed that there was an abnormal growth above the bladder. He was referred to a hospital, where a CT scan and MRI were ordered. He is currently waiting to schedule a date to remove the tumor. Thanks to this partnership, we are able to purchase necessary equipment and flag issues to help patients like Jay in the community.

Pam’s Story

Pam arrived at Salaam Clinic with a history of thyroid adenoma and high blood pressure. This patient, like many others, is a bright, intuitive individual with good insight into their own health. And also like so many others in our community, she is suffering due to lack of access to healthcare, even though she is employed by a local healthcare institution. So much so, that she has not had a primary care visit in over five years. By the time she arrived at Salaam Clinic, her thyroid adenoma had come back, her blood pressure was dangerously high, and she was well overdue for preventative screenings. Thanks to one patient visit, we were able to get her the prescriptions she needed, the necessary referrals for her lab work, and a specialist for her adenoma. We were also able to schedule her for a necessary mammogram and follow up appointment for blood pressure management.

Examples of Community Impact: Lina’s Story
Lina, a 42-year-old woman, was admitted to Culmore Clinic in March of 2022. Her initial complaints were worsening abdominal pain, increased fatigue and thirst, and increased urinary frequency. Culmore Clinic was able to:
- Engage her in a standard medical pre-assessment and order a baseline set of tests prior to her first appointment
- Consult with the Medical Director and transfer her to the ER for stabilization; clinic staff provided transportation and contacted her family
- Make referrals for dental, counseling, nutrition support, social work, and to a program called Turning the Curve
- Start her on insulin and provide a glucometer and test strips
- Make calls to Inova as she was also found to have pancreatic insufficiency; clinic staff continued close coordination of her care, now provided by both Inova and Culmore
Lina is attending the Turning the Curve Diabetes Education workshops. She has told the clinic staff that she has learned a lot about diabetes, how it affects the body, and what to do to feel better.

Laila’s Story

Laila is from Afghanistan and was in the top of her class, she even earned a full scholarship to medical school in Turkey. After medical school, she became a lead Emergency Room physician at a hospital there. In the US, she would have to pass an exam to practice medicine, which can take up to 10 or 15 years, especially while having to care for an infant son like Laila. We were able to enroll her in our program, where she worked to improve her English. She was accepted into the Upwardly Global mentoring program, and passed her CPR exams. She is now a certified instructor, charging $200/class! We were also able to connect her with a recruiter at Pfizer, who was seeking people with medical backgrounds to report and analyze data on the reported side effects of their drugs. On top of her class, she is now making even more at Pfizer!

DAY OF DIGNITY

More than 46 million people, including 16 million children, live in poverty in the United States. Islamic Relief USA is working to help alleviate the suffering of our neighbors across the country.

IRUSA’s flagship day of service, Day of Dignity, is an opportunity for our volunteers to provide essential services to communities in need through interventions such as serving hot nutritious meals; providing essential items such as clothing and hygiene kits; offering haircuts to those unable to afford them; and so much more. In certain circumstances, even free medical care and screenings are offered.

RAMADAN

Ramadan is a holy month for Muslims, celebrating through acts of worship like fasting during daylight hours, sharing meals, and increased charitable giving. As an Islamic organization, Ramadan is a particularly special time for the Islamic Relief USA family.

With a large Muslim donor base, the spirituality and generosity of the Ramadan season is deeply felt. This is why our donations are amplified in Ramadan. During the holy month, we place special focus on fighting food insecurity around the world and right here at home in the United States.

In the US, we prioritize families living with hunger through distributing food boxes. In 2021, our boxes fed over 76,000 people!

QURBANI/UDHIYAH

In Islam, Eid al-Adha is the celebration of the end of the Hajj pilgrimage. During this time, Qurbani/Udhiyah, or “sacrifice” is the tradition of sharing meat with one’s family and those in need.

In the US, we distribute Qurbani/Udhiyah to people suffering from hunger. These distributions allow Muslims living in America to participate in the joy and festivities of the Eid Al-Adha holiday, despite their difficult financial circumstances.

FUELING AN AMERICAN TRADITION: TURKEY DISTRIBUTIONS

Every Thanksgiving, millions of families across the country gather around their tables and enjoy a delicious turkey meal. For many families, however, the cost of participating in the joy of the holiday is unfortunately too high.

That’s why every November, Islamic Relief USA hosts turkey distributions in cities across the country. Our packages include not only turkey, but various different sides for families struggling with food insecurity to enjoy together.

NO STUDENT LEFT HUNGRY: SUMMER FOOD SERVICE

Islamic Relief USA strives to increase access to food and support those struggling throughout not only the school year, but the summer as well.

According to a report from the Food Research Action Center, only one in six students receive free or reduced-price meals over the summer.

That’s why IRUSA is a proud supporter of the USDA’s Summer Food Service Program, a program dedicated to combat food insecurity by providing safe spaces for children in need to receive meals during their summer break.

The honorable Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said, “Life’s most persistent question is: What are you doing for others?”

At Islamic Relief USA, we dedicate every day to serving our brothers and sisters in humanity in need. A particularly special day of service for us is Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Together with our IRUSA staff and volunteers, we work with local community groups to help neighbors in need.

Every year on MLK Day, we carry out projects that serve some of the most vulnerable across the country, in states like California, Maryland, New Jersey, Texas, and Virginia. We work to provide aid to marginalized groups, including children in need, the elderly, refugees, and people suffering from homelessness and food insecurity.

WE LOVE OUR BLUESHIRTS

We remain incredibly proud of the hard work that volunteers dedicate to IRUSA.

A group of people of various ages with a diverse range of backgrounds and education, our volunteers share one unifying motive: to leave a positive mark on humanity. These individuals selflessly give their time in homeless shelters, food pack outs, toy drives, and so much more.

Without the support and dedication of volunteers, the organization would not be where it is today. They have contributed hundreds of thousands of hours and countless resources. Their continued commitment is what keeps moving our organization forward.

Spotlight on DMT Volunteers

The volunteers that comprise the heart of our Disaster Management Team (DMT) are truly an inspiring group of individuals.

They dedicate their invaluable time and energy in the face of natural disasters and tragedies, and offer their skills and services to help those most in need rebuild—rebuild homes and lives.

Since 2017, nearly 120 of IRUSA volunteers traveled to Houston, TX, to rebuild homes that were damaged or destroyed in Hurricane Harvey. The volunteers were all students from different universities around the country, and dedicated their entire spring breaks to this project.

Packing Millions of Meals

Every year, in collaboration with our dedicated volunteers and partner organizations, Islamic Relief USA works to directly combat world hunger by packing meals for people suffering from food insecurity.

About 9% of the world’s population, that’s 690 million people, are going hungry every day. IRUSA is proud to provide nutritious meals that help those living with the terrifying reality of hunger with much-needed relief.

Since 2021, we have packed 1,439,616 meals nationwide!

In addition to our own meal packaging events, we are also proud to participate in collective meal packaging efforts, like the 9/11 meal pack out in New York City. At the most recent 9/11 event, we worked with over 40 organizations to compile more than 1.7 million meals for food insecure families.
Since IRUSA’s founding in 1993, responding to disasters has been a priority. Years of disaster relief efforts early on led to the formal establishment of the Disaster Management Team (DMT) in 2013. Our dedicated team of responders rush immediate assistance to survivors of natural disasters and tragedies across the country in their most urgent hours of need.

IRUSA is an active member of the National Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster (VOAD), an association that promotes communications and collaboration between organizations active in disaster relief, as well as government organizations.

RESPONDING TO DISASTERS AROUND THE COUNTRY

COLORADO (MOORE/FORT COLLINS)

As wildfires raged through parts of Colorado in the summer of 2012, the Islamic Relief USA team staffed a distribution center providing residents with items including food, furniture, hygiene items and clothes. The team also donated tools for residents to use in cleaning up their properties.

TEXAS (DALLAS)

A tornado hit Prince George’s County in Maryland in May 2011. The Islamic Relief USA team assisted in both relief efforts.

TEXAS (FRONT WORTH)

In the summer of 2013, DMFT was again asked to help set up a resource center for those whose homes were affected by tornadoes that passed through east Texas. This was the second such event in two months in the state, and a local Islamic Relief USA team assisted in both relief efforts.

TEXAS (WEST)

An Islamic Relief USA team was in West, Texas, within 24 hours after a fertilizer plant exploded. The team helped set up and operate a mass care center that supported people whose homes were affected by the explosion.

ILOINOS (CHICAGO)

Islamic Relief USA supplied trained counselors to help residents work through their trauma.

MARYLAND (PRINCE GEORGE’S COUNTY)

A tornado hit Prince George’s County in June 2012. Staff and volunteers worked in a shelter that housed members of the community whose homes were affected.

ALABAMA

Just after Islamic Relief USA’s disaster-nurse program was created, tornadoes in Alabama quickly put the team to the test. Staff and volunteers deployed in May 2011 to work with the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army to assess damage, prepare food, work at shelters, and converse residents.

MISSISSIPPI

Hurricane Isaac struck in August 2012 on the southern border of Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana. DMFT members arrived in Florida but mobilized into Mississippi where they assessed every single shelter to ensure needs of the residents were being met.

OHIO

A cluster of tornadoes in May 2013—including one a mile wide—touched down in Ohio killing and injured at least two dozen people. IRUSA disaster relief workers directed donations to residents in need of help to start their recovery process.

OKLAHOMA

A cluster of tornadoes in May 2013—including one a mile wide—touched down in Oklahoma killing and injured at least two dozen people. IRUSA disaster relief workers directed donations to residents in need of help to start their recovery process.

ILLINOIS (CHICAGO)

DMT members worked in two shelters during the flooding that took place in the Midwest in 2013. Many homes were no longer inhabitable, and the shelters provided temporary lodging.
FOR ISLAMIC RELIEF, ADVOCACY MEANS WORKING WITH YOU TO ELEVATE HUMANITARIAN VOICES AND THE VOICES OF THOSE WE SERVE. WE ARE DEVOTED TO HELPING PEOPLE IN NEED ACROSS THE COUNTRY FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS AND ADVOCACY

Islamic Relief USA’s Public Affairs team helps fulfill the organization’s goal of improving livelihoods in communities where resources and opportunities are limited.

How? By engaging lawmakers, joining coalitions with like-minded and mission-driven organizations, and supporting the prevention of social ills or problems. They advocate for programs that alleviate poverty and hunger, assist refugees, and raise awareness about natural and man-made disasters, among other inequities.

In the process, those who engage with such efforts learn to value being self-sustaining, productive members of society in order to truly make a difference in the world.

Through different forums, the media, and relationships, the Public Affairs team informs existing and potential stakeholders of our positive life-altering work in more than 40 countries.

The team’s work showcases IRUSA for the compassionate organization that it is—an organization committed to social justice, humanity, and excellence.
“We know that at the core of our humanitarian mission is social justice. We aspire for a world free of poverty—that poverty doesn’t occur in a vacuum. It occurs due to oppression, injustice, hatred, violence and greed among many other elements. We must continue to work towards this honorable mission, founded on our faith to provide relief and development in a dignified manner. To achieve dignity, we must recognize the importance of all of Allah’s creation and do our best to promote just and equitable policy to support those who are vulnerable and disenfranchised.”

- Sharif Aly, IRUSA CEO

Vital to Islamic Relief USA achieving its humanitarian mission are our advocacy campaigns, non-partisan government engagement, and direct lobbying on Capitol Hill. Through our advocacy, IRUSA works to build the public and political will to end poverty, hunger, and inequality. The influence and impact of our advocacy is enhanced by the coordinated efforts of our national network of IRUSAAdvocates!

Through our advocacy campaigns we inform IRUSAAdvocates about emerging issues, trends, and challenges in the humanitarian and anti-poverty sector. Most importantly, we mobilize IRUSAAdvocates through coordinated actions that advances our shared priorities of ending poverty in the US and around the world. Through outreach such as social media, emails, and direct calls to elected officials, they’re able to raise important humanitarian concerns that require responses from their Members of Congress, government officials, and social influencers. Through these strategic and coordinated campaigns, IRUSAAdvocates are holding public officials accountable for their responsibility to improve the conditions and resources of communities inflicted by insecurity and limited opportunity.

In Washington, DC, IRUSA plays host to annual meetings with diverse Members of Congress and government officials. The meetings bring awareness to Capitol Hill about the community-enhancing work that Muslim Americans and our allies are conducting in various Congressional districts, such as strengthening food security, expanding healthcare access, and welcoming refugees. IRUSA also advocates for legislation and government programs that can improve the socio-economic wellbeing and opportunities of vulnerable communities. And by including IRUSAAdvocates and partner organizations in our advocacy, facilitating their opportunities to directly lobby their Members of Congress, we strengthen our influence on Capitol Hill with Representatives increasingly taking positive action aligned with our humanitarian principles and legislative priorities.

This year alone, we’ve engaged hundreds of advocates. Our Afghan Adjustment Act campaign urged members of Congress and Senate to create a legal pathway to citizenship for the thousands of Afghans forced to flee after US withdrawal from Afghanistan. The End Hunger as a Weapon of War campaign urged members to pass a bipartisan resolution that calls on the US government to use diplomatic efforts to address instances where hunger is being used as a weapon; address food insecurity through continued humanitarian response; and to hold individuals, governments, and militias accountable for using hunger in conflict. And leading up to the November 2022 midterm elections, advocates were encouraged to join our Go Vote campaign, where participants were given information on where and how to get registered to vote. They could also enter into the ‘I Voted’ sticker design contest and encourage others to vote.

Thanks to the IRUSAAdvocacy network, we are able to achieve our mission and help vulnerable communities across the US!

The full list of campaigns and ways advocates can take action can be found on irusa.org/advocacy.
These days, not a news cycle goes by where you don’t hear about the refugee crisis.

Whether it’s from Afghanistan, Syria, Palestine, or countless other nations around the world, people are fleeing in hopes of a better future, most especially in the US. Recently, some 83,000 Afghan refugees arrived in the US following the change of government and ensuing political strife in Afghanistan in 2021.

Since then, Islamic Relief USA has signed a memorandum of understanding with Church World Services (CWS) to help resettle refugees through several community-based organizations around the country. The need is great, and many organizations feel overwhelmed by the sheer demand and workload on top of an overall lack of resources.

Over the course of past year, Islamic Relief USA has done the following:

- 10,000 food boxes filled with nutritious, nonperishable food including items such as rice, beans, salt, lentils, green tea, sugar, and flour
- Thousands of hygiene and sanitation kits to refugees across military bases
- $500,000 in grants to partners to help resettle refugees
- Rental and cash assistance, legal consultations, mental health and psychosocial support, and case management

IRUSA is excited to continue this support in coming years. In Islam, Allah (SWT) is clear on the importance of helping refugees. And IRUSA remains guided by the timeless values and teachings provided by the revelations contained with the Qur’an. Through effective partnerships and teamwork, the needs of those in most need can be met in a respectful and responsible manner.
As Muslims, we must be partners in the upliftment of the oppressed. When there are systemic roadblocks that prevent people from experiencing equity, we must be diligent in our response. Our mission demands that we alleviate poverty and that can not be done without an anti-racism framework, as poverty is wedded to systemic racism. Our work is most effective when we listen intently to those who are directly affected as they are the best to guide our courses of action.

Islamic Relief USA programs dedicated to solidarity provide access to business and entrepreneurship opportunities, access to quality healthcare, education, and much more to marginalized and underserved communities. Unfortunately, we’ve seen first hand the underinvestment that has taken place in neighborhoods and regions where minority residents account for the majority of the population. The water crisis in Flint, Michigan, where we were able to provide bottled water to families across the city. The drought in the Navajo region of New Mexico, which prompted a similar response. And many more cities across the US that have been overlooked and seemingly forgotten.

IRUSA is proud to help empower communities and give people a voice in the world, no matter their race or religion. As one of our core values, we pray social justice is not just an ideal to be held, but something that is truly and wholeheartedly practiced in our society.
