

2025 IRUSA Domestic Grant Guidelines

OUR MISSION

Islamic Relief USA provides relief and development in a dignified manner regardless of gender, race, or religion, and works to empower individuals in their communities and give them a voice in the world.

IRUSA DOMESTIC GRANTS FUNDING

Please carefully review these guidelines. The guidelines explain the eligibility requirements, application process and how to connect with the IRUSA Grants team. Submission will be broken down into two-stage process:

- Submission of an organizational profile to be reviewed by IRUSA Staff. Organizational profile will be due Friday, March 21st, 2025, at 4 p.m (EST).
- If the organizational profile is approved, a program proposal will be due Friday, May 16th, 2025, 4 p.m. (EST).

Please note both deadlines.

IRUSA makes investments across four categories that covers a broad array of sectors. The proposed project must fit IRUSA's mission, vision and values, and addresses one or more of the following social issues:

- Food Security grants that tackle the growing problem of irregular availability and irregular access to food across the United States. These grant funded programs will create holistic, evidence-based solutions to food insecurity in the United States. The program should recognize and address the detrimental social, economic, and health effects of food insecurity on local communities. IRUSA will focus on funding programs that offer case management and other wrap-around services in addition to providing food to its beneficiaries.
- Healthcare grants that bridge gaps in healthcare services and address various health disparities in the United States. Grant partners offer primary, specialty and/or mental health care to patients who are under-represented and under-served - especially individuals with refugee status. IRUSA will fund licensed, non-profit, healthcare facilities using evidence-based treatment that offer care at absolutely no charge to the beneficiary.
- Refugee and Immigrant Services grants that address and meet various needs of refugees and immigrants in the United States. Grant partners should implement programs that promote self-sufficiency and resilience for the post 90-day period after government support ends. This grant-funded program is specifically looking to support career development, ESL classes, citizenship classes, and social service referral programs.

- Select Community Development grants for projects that address social issues. IRUSA is targeting programming that addresses domestic violence intervention, at-risk youth, inclusivity of special needs populations, and community cohesion.
